

NAME – New Actions for Migrant Women

The implementation of the jobpackage courses

During the last months, the partnership successfully implemented the jobpackage courses with immigrant women in partner countries (Denmark, Italy, Spain, Cyprus, Lithuania).

The jobpackage courses have been implemented online and face to face, giving participants the opportunity to learn in a safe and comfortable environment.

The main topics that have been covered during the jobpackage courses are the following:

1. Personal and everyday coping skills
2. Social skills
3. Health awareness
4. Language skills
5. Digital skills
6. Employability skills

In deepening the topics of the job package courses, the participants were supported by relevant experts and stakeholders in different areas of expertise. Indeed, the partnership worked for the establishment of cross-sectoral Jobpackage Councils consisting of relevant stakeholders such as local companies, job centres, social and healthcare authorities, vocational and other educational institutions, to advise and facilitate the planning and provision of the activities with the participants.

With the help of the trainers and the support of the job council members, the participants were able to explore crucial issues for their personal and professional development.

Furthermore, through a comprehensive initial clarification process, the women drew up an individual progression plan which is continuously evaluated on the basis of a comprehensive evaluation system, combining self-evaluation and monitoring activities. Therefore, an assessment tool has been developed to assess the women's background and progress throughout their participation in the Jobpackage course.

The assessment tool is perceived as an integral part of the jobpackage concept, evaluation and reflection on the women's progression. It is an essential tool to evaluate the achieved results and to reflect on methods to strengthen the individual woman's progress, motivation and positive prospects for change.

Empowering Migrant Women and Enhancing their integration into the labour market

Migrant women are an integral part of our modern societies: enhancing their values, skills and backgrounds is crucial. The transnational report was designed to respond to the need for clarity and more information about the migrant women's conditions and how they can contribute to our multicultural societies.

NAME project was born from a partnership composed by six organisations from Denmark, Lithuania, Italy, Spain, and Cyprus. We work together to reach our common goals in synergy with immigrant women who want to create their own independent life and with professionals and employers who wish to discover more on the great opportunities to be opened to new cultures.

The Jobpackage courses were implemented with the aim of improving employment opportunities for migrant women and sustaining their empowerment and social condition in the community.

Aim

We believe that improving living and working conditions of migrant women is possible by fostering cooperation and exchanging experiences and good practices in the field of migrant women entrepreneurship and employability.

Target Group

The key players of NAME are immigrant women, political decision-makers, vocational and other educational institutions as well as employers who want to give new opportunities for employment, self-support and a safe and independent everyday life to migrant women.
